

[VERVE IV SPEAKER SYSTEM]

Let's just say you already own a receiver that shows no signs of blowin' chunks anytime soon. Okay, let's. Almost more important is the fact the learning curve on how to operate the thing is zero, which is always good. Together, these things point to the fact that box ain't budging – no way, no how. Okay, so you don't want our killer electronics. Fine. We can live with that (even though our fingers are crossed behind our back). That said, the Verve IV, 5.1 channel speaker system will not only upgrade, but sonically outperform virtually anything you've previously had connected to the ends of those wires. Bet on it. In fact, while you're at it, bet the fricken' farm on it.

[WHAT YOU GET]

3 large Verve satellites for front, 2 small Verve satellites for rear and the Verve powered subwoofer.

[WHY YOU GET IT]

Nice though it may be, you simply can't see your way clear to pop for our matching electronics. You do, however, get all hot and bothered over the prospects of adding our 5.1 speakers and subwoofer system that'll curl your toes. Well, go for it.
